“When Will My Bus/Train Get Here?”

Wonder no more! Metrolink and OC Bus have partnered with services that use GPS technology to tell riders where the next bus or train is and when it's expected to arrive.

The Metrolink Train Tracker is at metrolinktrains.com.

Choose your station and train to get up-to-the-minute schedule information, including viewing as a map.

OC Bus uses NextRide at octa.net and available by download as a free app. It gives access to real-time bus tracking on all OC Bus routes.

You'll be able enjoy the benefits of transit without worrying if you're in for a long wait.

Save With Youth Summer Pass

OC Bus offers a discount Youth Summer Pass for riders ages 6-18. It's $20 for 30 days of consecutive riding—half off the usual fare—valid through Aug. 31.

Find out more at octa.net or buy using the OC Bus mobile ticketing app.

Santiago Creek Bike Trail Now Open

Thinking of dusting off your bike and taking it out for a spin? The Santiago Bike Trail is a great summer ride. Portions of the trail that had been closed for clean-up and to address safety concerns are now reopened.

The 7.6-mile paved trail runs beside Santiago Creek from Villa Park to Orange, within easy biking and walking distance from the Orange Metrolink Station.

Get details on this and other Orange County bike trails by downloading the free Bike Trail Map.

Metrolink Labor Day Discount

Ride all day anywhere

Metrolink goes for just $10 on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 3.

The discount

is thanks to a new Metrolink policy that offers Sunday pricing and service on federal holidays.

Congratulations Club Rideshare Winners

“Why I Rideshare”

Gas prices skyrocketing 10 years ago is why Tammy Olschewske decided to try Metrolink instead of driving. She still rides the train daily from her home in Corona to Santa Ana, where she works in the Sheriff's Department. "Over the years, it's been about the convenience," she says. "It's better than sitting on the 91 Freeway."
